

Toronto, October 20 to 22/2010

The global market crisis has prompted investors to take more personal control of their portfolios now more than ever before. Some have protected or even grown their portfolios in these challenging market conditions.

The difference between those who have enjoyed success and those who have not is no secret. Having in-depth knowledge about the markets garnered from both education and experience is paramount to the success of every investor and trader.

□□□□□□□□ □□ □□□□□□